WATER PLANT ONE OF BEST

IT'S PRODUCT PUREST OF ANY CITIES REPORTING.

J. W. QUALLS HONORED

Named On Executive Committee Of State Organization Which Is Formed At Meeting At Kirksville.

That Maryville has the purest tested water, according to bacteria count, of any city or town in Missouri, where records are available, is the announcement by J. W. Qualls, superintendent of the local water plant, upon his return from Kirksville today where he attended a two-day meeting of water company officials from all over Missouri.

The meeting was held Monday and yesterday, and about thirty cities and towns were represented at the conference, which was called by the state board of health.

While at Kirksville, Mr. Qualls compared records with all water company officials present, and he found that Maryville is far ahead of other municipalities in the condition of its city water.

For some time records have been kept at the local water plant of the number of bacteria found in a cubic centimeter of water. The average number is thirty-three. This is about thirty less than any city reporting at the Kirksville meeting.

As a result of discussions at the meeting and descriptions of various water plants given, Mr. Qualls is of the opinion that Maryville has the most efficient plant in the state, according to the amount of money expended. In other words, he believes that Maryville citizens get more for their money in water plant equipment and operation than any others in Missouri.

For example, he called attention this morning to the strict economy policy in effect at the local plant where but three men are employed outside the office. Some other towns in Missouri have ten or twelve, Mr. Qualls said.

The conference, the first of its kind in the state, was called by the state board of health for considering important question relating to the operation of the water treatment plants in Missouri. Another purpose was to establish better co-operation between cities and the state board of health in the control of water purification operation.

A number of consulting chemists and engineers were present at the meeting and discussed the question of water purification from various angles.

Discussions at the two-day meeting were confined mainly to water purification problems, and Mr. Qualls said that much benefit was derived from the talks.

An organization, the Missouri conference on water purification, was formed. Mr. Qualls was chosen as a member of the executive committee. A. V. Graf of St. Louis was chosen president. Meetings will be held yearly. The place for the conference next year has not yet been selected.

School Injunction to Be in Court Tomorrow

Asks Restraining of Collection of Certain Taxes in School District of Conception Junction.

A suit to make permanent a temporary injunction restraining the collection of certain taxes in the school district of Conception Junction is to be heard before Judge John M. Dawson in circuit court tomorrow morning, with both sides presenting evidence.

The suit is brought by two members of the school board, joined by three other citizens, against the four remaining members of the board, Gertrude Walsh, collector for Jefferson township, and Fred Smith, clerk of Nodaway County.

The two school board members who contest the action of the majority are Gabe Purcell and Leo King. The other three plaintiffs are Thomas F. Merrigan, J. A. Klaas and P. R. Growney.

The defending school board members are Anton M. Schaffer, J. H. Jamison, Henry J. Alden and James C. Donaldson.

The suit attacks a 25-cent tax levy for "building purposes" and a 15-cent levy creating a sinking fund for the retiring of present indebtedness. There is also a levy of $1 "for teachers and incidental funds and general school purposes."

Portfolio Received From Indian School

The Junior Red Cross of this county has received a portfolio made by fifth grade children of the Theodore Roosevelt Indian School, Fort Apache, Arizona.

This portfolio, which is characteristically Indian, goes to the fifth grade at the Weshington School in exchange for a similiar one to be sent back to Fort Apache.

In the scrapbook are specimens of bead and rug work, lessons in grammar, arithmetic, spelling, and writing, and several letters from the Indian children.

DATE IS SET FOR PAGEANT

D. A. R. PRODUCTION TO BE GIVEN NEXT WEEK

RARE GOWNS OFFERED

Treasured Garments Will Be Displayed in Portrayal of History of American Fashions

The "Pageantry of Fashion," depicting the ultra modish in American dress from earliest history to 1925, will be presented by the Maryville Chapter of the D. A. R. at the Empire Theatre here, next Tuesday and Wednesday. The display will be held each night after the first showing of the feature motion picture.

Maryville society folk, in gowns dating back some of them as far as a hundred years and others created for the portrayal, will promenade and pirouette in true colonial style. Every phase of American dress will be on display. "Ye olde tyme music," to fit the various periods depicted, will supplement the revue.

Dame Fashion is to be portrayed by Mrs. Silas Stanley and Mrs. Arthur Noid will appear as the first D. A. R.

Not the least interesting feature of the display will be the appearance of several wedding gowns owned by women of this county. Some of the gowns date back as far as the early years of the last century. Others are modern. Mrs. Fred Bellows has contributed a gown worn by her grandmother. Mrs. D. J. Thomas also has one owned by her grandmother and it will be worn in the pageant. Mrs. Le Grand Gann and Mrs. Julia Jones of Parnell have offered gowns worn by their mothers. Wedding dresses worn by Mrs. Frank Shoemaker, Mrs. Hal Hooker and Mrs. Bert Raines at their own weddings will be displayed by young women of Maryville. A dress from the trousseau of Mrs. Thaddeus K. Beal will be shown in the same scene.

Mrs. G. H. Colbert, regent of the local chapter, said today that the call for old fashioned clothing had been answered beyond all expectations and that the display of rare gowns would be outstanding.

This affair will supplant the bazaar which has been an annual feature of the local D. A. R. chapter for a number of years.

Maryville and surrounding towns have been scoured for costumes and, while many have been obtained, rare models always are acceptable. Mrs. Colbert pointed out. Anyone displaying a costume will have the privilege of choosing the model who shall wear it.

Lamkin in Address at Educational Meeting

Uel W. Lamkin, president of the State Teachers College, left today for Minot, N. Dak., where he will speak tomorrow at the North Dakota Educational Association meeting.

Mr. Lamkin's subject will be, "Thoughtless America."

Films Are Shown at History Club Meet

The History Club of the Maryville High School, was entertained this morning with two films, a reel each. The first was "Democracy and Education," which dealt with the growth of American principles and the advancement of education. The second was, "In Historic Mohawk Valley," showing the scenes along the Hudson and the historical country of the revolutionary days.

HAPPINESS IN SIMPLE RULE

"GIVE AND TAKE," SAY COUPLE WED FIFTY YEARS.

MARRIED IN ILLINOIS

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Townsend Observe Anniversary Quietly—In County Since 1881.

"Marriage is a good deal of give and take. There's no need of serious trouble if you will do right and treat each other right.

'If you have said something wrong, take it back; and if you are doing something aggrevating, quit it. It's easy to get along if you want to."

This is the rule by which Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Townsend of this city have found fifty years of material happiness. They are today quietly celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

"If people will tend to their own business and leave others alone, they will have all they can do," was another assertion of the bridegroom of fifty years. "And pay attention to your own wife and leave others alone," he added, with this final injunction:

"Stay home nights. Women get suspicious of men who are out late, and they have a right to be. A man's place is at home when the day's work is done."

Married In Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend were married on October 28, 1875, in Warren County, Illinois, where both of them were living at that time. The ceremony took place at the home of the parents of the bride, who was Miss Mary Theodosia Adcock. She was 16 years old and Mr. Townsend only a few months before had passed his twenty-first birthday.

"Squire" Townsend, as he is better known, because he is a justice of the peace, was born in Putnam County, New York, July 27, 1854, but moved with his parents to Illinois three years later. Mrs. Townsend was born and reared in the locality in which the mirriage took place.

It was a large family into which young Townsend was born—four boys and eight girls. The father was a farmer and times were none to prosperous, so it was up to the children to make the most of the education they could garner in a few months spent in the rural schools in the winter months.

To Nodaway In 1881.

Following in the footsteps of his father, the bridgegroom Townsend became a farmer. He and his bride remained in Warren County for six years, and then, in 1881, they moved to Nodaway County, Missouri, where they have since resided. They settled near Pickering and after four years they moved to that town.

In Pickering for the next twenty-five years, Mr. Townsend operated a dray and bought and sold livestock. In 1919 he moved to Maryville and became a janitor at the State Teachers College, after which for six years he was custodian of the courthouse. Since that time he has been employed at the Remus store.

"Squire" Townsend first earned his title in Pickering, where he served as justice of the peace for fourteen years. He is now serving his second term in that office here, having been re-elected at the last election.

A Lifelong Democrat.

In politics, the Squire is an unwavering Democrat. His first vote for President was cast for Tilden, and he has voted for every other Democratic presidential candidate since that time.

The squire also enjoys a considerable reputation as a weather observer. He bases most of his observations on the moon.

"Whenever the new moon is away out in the south," he explained, "and lying so the hunter can hang his powder horn on it, it will be dry and warm. But if the moon is turned down, the water is running out, and it will be wet."

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend joined the Christian Church together forty-six years ago and ever since have been faithful members.

Mrs. Townsend has been in poor health recently, but is better. Although she has a girl to help her, she is capable of doing all her housework.

Have Two Children.

The couple have two daughters, Mrs. Ed Godsey of this city and Mrs. Ezra Phipps of Battle Creek, Mich. There are four grandsons, Townsend, Robert and Edward Godsey and George Smith, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Harry Dunshee of Stanberry.

They have one great-grandson, Robert Dunshee.

Mr. Townsend has two brothers, living, one in Canada and one in Iowa, and two sisters, both of whom are in Nebraska. Mrs. Townsend has three living brothers, one in Willow Springs, Mo., and two in Wyoming. She also has an aunt in Stephens, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend today received the congratulations of a large number of friends and this evening will be the guests of honor at a family supper at the home of their daughter here. Among the additional guests will be the families of three cousins of Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Perry Onstott and Mrs. Mark Heflin of the Harmony neighborhood and Warren Bloomfield of Parnell.

SAYS SCIENCE IS BEST CURE

APPLICABLE TO ALL NEEDS, SAYS LECTURER.

MANY HEAR SEELEY

Meeting At Empire Theater Last Night Is Held Under Auspices of Local Christian Science Church.

"Christian Science is applicable to every human need," said Paul Stark Seeley of Portland, Ore., in his lecture on "Christian Science and the Kingdom of Heaven" at the Empire Theater last night.

A large and appreciative audience attended the meeting. Mr. Seeley is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist of Boston. He was introduced last night by Mrs. Lora Meacham, first reader of the local Christian Science Church, under whose auspices the lecture was given.

Mrs. Ralph Eversole gave a piano prelude preceding the lecture.

In his lecture Mr. Seeley pointed out that a Christian Science treatment includes denial of the claims of evil and affirmation of the facts of being as known to God.

"A lie when answered by truth becomes silent, whether the lie by a slander or a sickness," the lecturer continued.

Through Christian Science, he added, poverty and lack may be overcome the same as sickness.

In his lecture last night, Mr. Seeley said in part as follows:

"Christ Jesus began his epoch-making ministry with the imperative command, "Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand."

"Let us note that Jesus' statement concerning the presence of God and His kingdom could not have been made if he had no other evidence of existence than that which his eyes saw and his ears heard. These senses saw an order wherein his countrymen were under the Roman yoke, the Pharisees were in Moses' seat, and the human race was in subjection to sin, disease, and death. Jesus gave no weight to this order, but with his thought fixed on a higher order of existence he confidently said, "Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Jesus well knew the truth, later he declared by Paul, "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard . . . . the things which God hath prepared." If, then, we cannot perceive God and His kingdom with our eyes and ears, how are we to find Him and His creation? Through spiritual sense.

"Perhaps we have never thought of having a spiritual sense. Nevertheless we have, and it is the most reliable sense we possess. This sense perceives the things that endure. The practice of kindness, honesty, or justice, if without selfish motive, is the activity of spiritual sense. So we see that every right thinking person is using spiritual sense in some measure every day. None of these God-qualities can be seen, heard, tasted, or felt with the material senses. The physical senses discern only our temporary material surroundings, whereas spiritual sense acquaints us with the ideas of Mind. There is within us this sense which discerns good and clings to it, and there is nothing about the operation that is physical in any way. By this spiritual, or right mental, sense, God, Spirit, is discerned and His laws understood. And it was because of what he discerned through spiritual sense that Jesus could say without qualification, in the face of a material world, "The kingdom

A COLD WAVE STRIKES HERE

MERCURY DROPS TO TEN ABOVE AS LIGHT SNOW FALLS.

30 RADIATORS FREEZE

Change Marks Colder October On Record in Maryville According to J. R. Brink.

Yesterday's snowfall, the second of the season, ushered in a cold wave that sent the mercury in J. R. Brink's thermometer down to ten degrees above the zero mark, setting a new October record for frigid temperatures.

The previous low mark during the thirty-year period Mr. Brink has kept record was sixteen aboxe zero. This was on October 28, 1895.

Snow, driven by a strong north wind, fell throughout Nodaway County yesterday afternoon and after about 2:30 o'clock the flakes remained on the ground. During the afternoon some rain fell too and formed a thin coat of ice over the sidewalks and pavement.

The snow fell steadily for about three hours and a thin white mantle soon covered the ground with green grass extending through in laws, pastures and meadows.

Last night at least thirty automobile owners in Maryville "took a chance." As a result, today they contributed around $150 toward the maintenance of garages and repair shops. Radiators freeze easily in weather such as was experienced last night.

Dealers report a heavy sale of alcohol and glycerin today.

Radio reports this morning said that Fort Dodge, Ia., had received six inches of snow, the heaviest fall since 1880 at such an early date.

Mrs. John Ham Dies at Home of Daughter

Aged Resident of Maryville Succumbs Following Illness of Pneumonia—Funeral Services Tomorrow Afternoon

Mrs. John Ham, 90 years old, a resident of Maryville since 1881, died at 5 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Fraser, 325 E. 3rd street. She had been ill of pneumonia about a week.

Funeral services will be held at the Fraser home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon conducted by Dr. C. C. James pastor of the First Methodist Church. Burial will be in Miriam cemetery.

Mrs. Ham was born at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, August 13, 1835. When seventeen years old she came to Iowa. Her marriage to Mr. Ham took place May 9, 1853, in Jockson County, Ia. Their home was in Worth County, Mo., and near Guilford until 1881 when they located in Maryville. Mrs. Ham had made her home with her daughters, Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. J. W. Toel of Maryville, since the death of Mr. Ham on March 4, 1920. She also leaves two daughters, Mrs. R. L. Graves of Kirk, Colo., and Mrs. W. H. Miller of Kansas City, and four sons, Joseph Ham of Benkelman, Neb., Dr. Emmett Ham of Beattie, Kan., Fred Ham of Guilford and Herman Ham of Council Bluffs, Ia.

Schools Visited in Guilford Vicinity

Four rural schools were visited yesterday by Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools. They were Whiteford, Washington, Lincoln and Fairview, all in the vicinity of Guilford.

Mr. Somerville transacted business in his office today. He reported the roads very slick in places yesterday and may not resume his inspections until Friday. He is anxious to complete them before leaving to attend the meeting of the Missouri Teachers Association in St. Louis early next month.

80 Acres Near Clyde Are Sold for $7,000

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen have sold to the Bank of Conception at Clyde eighty acres of their farm, about four miles south of Clyde. The purchase price was $7,000, and the property sold is described as all the west one-half of the southeast quarter of section 6, township 62, range 33.

Blame Broken Rail for Train Disaster

Work Of Identifying Dead Continue —Twenty Known Killed In Wreck In Mississippi.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 28.—A broken rail, made in 1909, and ordinarily should have given good service for twenty years, was blamed today by officials of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad for one of the most disastrous wrecks in the history of southern railroading.

Work of identifying the dead and a check to learn the exact number killed in the wreck of the "Sunnyland," fast flyer, near Victoria, Mississippi, yesterday, continued today with the known dead totating twenty. About twenty-five persons are seriously injured.

WAR CLOUDS NOT CLEARING

MILITARY OPERATIONS CONTINUE IN BALKANS.

BLAMES GREEK TROOPS

Bulgarian Representative At League Council Declares Athens Government Not Complying With Agreement.

Sophia, Oct. 28.—Greeks continue to shell Petrich and have not withdrawn any of their forces.

A clash between Greek and Bulgarian soldiers occurred today when Greek troops attempted to rush Petrich and rescue the body of a dead Greek soldier. They were repulsed by a small force of innabitants.

Paris, Oct. 28.—Greece has continued her artillery fire against Bulgarian troops and towns despite the League Council's orders, despite announced compliance with them and despite Bulgaria's desire to restore peace.

This declaration was made to the League Council today by M. Morloff, Bulgarian representative.

He notified the Council that Greek officers would meet the Bulgarian officers at the frontier this afternoon to determine the extent of Bulgarian occupation.

London, Oct. 28.—War has again broken out along the Greek-Bulgarian frontier, according to advices received here today.

While evacuation of the Greek troops from Bulgaria was under way, in accordance with the League of Nations Council's ultimatum, a new clash occurred and indications are that fighting may be in general.

A Slonika dispatch states that the Bulgarians attacked the Greeks, who were evacuating. An immediate halt was called in the evacuation.

Sophia dispatches state that the Greeks opened fire on the Bulgarians.

Thus, dispatches from both countries seem to confirm that fighting is again in progress with both side placing responsibility on each other.

Calls South America Example for World

President Coolidge, In Accepting Martin Monument, Declares Southern Country Aided International Peace.

Washington, Oct. 28.—President Coolidge today directed the attention of other nations of the world to a study of South American statesmanship as one of the outstanding contributions to the promotion of international peace and prosperity. His statement, accrediting the republics of the south with a clear vision in connection with world policies, was made in a speech officially from Argentina in behalf of the American government a monument of the great Argentine patriot and statesman, General Jose de Jan Martin.

Doniphan, Mo., Mason May Be Grand Master

St. Joseph, Oct. 28.—W. W. Martin of Doniphan, Mo., is scheduled to be elected grand master of the Masons of Missouri at the meeting of the Grand Lodge here today. He is in the drug business.

Unidentified Man Dies From St. Louis Cold

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—The death of an unidentified man from exposure marked the coldest October day in twenty-eight years here, with the mercury in the low twenties.

MITCHELL IN FIRST VICTORY

THREE OFFICERS ARE RULED OUT OF COURT MARTIAL.

GENERAL OPENS "WAR"

Washington, Oct. 28.—In a desperate defense move, counsel for Col. William Mitchell, on trial for the alleged violation of the ninety-sixth article of war, this afternoon challenged the Constitutional right of the court martial's "jury of generals" to try him on any charges growing out of his public criticism of the army and navy heads in control of aviation.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Because he was challenged and excused as president of the court martial trying Col. William Mitchell, Brig.-Gen. Charles P. Summerall today returned to the war department and openly declared "war" on the storm center of the army air service.

"From now on, Mitchell and I are enemies," Summerall said. "It could not be otherwise after what he did at the court martial."

Representative Reid, Republican of Illinois, chief of Mitchell's civilian counsel, challenged Summerall for "personal prejudice." This was done at Mitchell's request.

Washington, Oct. 28—Col. William Mitchell storm center of the army air service, started off his court martial today with victory.

On the ground that two of the generals sitting as his judges were prejudiced against him, personally and officially, he successfully challenged their right to sit in judgment upon him, and they retired.

One of them was Maj.-Gen. Charles Summerall, the presiding officer of the court. The other was Brig.-Gen. Albert Bowley.

A few minutes later, Mitchell ran his string of victories to three by challenging the availibility of Brig.-Gen. Fred Sladen, commandent at West Point, to sit in the court and Sladen was dismissed without further questioning.

The retirement of General Summerall made Maj.-Gen. Robert L. Howsee, the presiding officer of the court.

The challenges were made by Representative Frank Reid, Republican of Illinois, civilian counsel for Mitchell, who declared General Bowley had shown prejudice to the flying colonel in a speech made before an American Legion meeting in Greenville, S. C. on October 20, 1925.

General Bowley immediately arose and admitted having made the speech.

Reid challenged Summerall for personal prejudice at "Mitchell's personal direction." This prejudice, Reid continued, was due to a report Mitchell had made while assistant-chief of the army air service attacking Summerall's handling of aviation, while in command of the Hawaiian department.

M. Painleve Asked to Form a New Cabinet

Caillaux, of Course, Will Not Be Included in New Body in France.

Paris, Oct. 28.—M. Painleve, who yesterday resigned with his cabinet, today accepted the invitation of President Doumergue to form a new cabinet. M. Painleve, it is understood, will include in his new cabinet many members of the body which resigned yesterday but, of course, M. Calliaux, whose policies as finance minister caused the downfall of the cabinet, will not be included.

It is probable M. Herriot, former premier, whose criticisms of Caillaux contributed largely to the situation which led to the cabinet's resignation, will be invited to join the new cabinet.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Clayton and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Clayton and Miss Loretta Clayton of Barnard were guests today of Miss Esta Force and Mrs. Ethel Luther of Arkoe.

The Weather

Mostly fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight in the extreme southeast portion, not so cold Thursday afternoon.

A PROBLEM IN SALESMANSHIP.

Some business men can't understand why the great mail order houses do so much business. There isn't any secret about it. They have built up a great business on service and advertising. They make a price appeal. They may not lay down at the buyers home the same grade of goods any cheaper than he can buy at home but they are everlastingly placing their proposition before the buyer while the local man is watching the clouds or lamenting the condition of the roads or something. They know that neither roads nor weather make any difference in their business and they go on spending money judiciously to get their message before the people. Advertising is not one branch of their salesmanship; it is their whole and only salesmanship. And yet, some fellow will tell you it doesn't pay to advertise.

Two of these concerns have established branch houses in Kansas City during the last two years at a cost of millions of dollars to each of them. One concern has laid out an advertising appropriation of four million dollars. They as a rule can not get their advertising into local country papers and have to resort to catalogue advertising, the most expensive form of advertising. Since locating in Kansas City, those concerns are carrying page after page of advertising in the Kansas City papers and the Kansas City Weekly Star recently carried an eight page advertisement for one of them. Do you suppose they are doing this because it doesn't pay or because it does pay?

New conditions have brought about new methods of business and the quicker men adapt themselves to the new conditions, the better it will be for business men in the smaller cities and towns. Forty years ago, when trade areas were limited to within a few miles of each town men toook newspapers because they knew the editor and liked him personally and they traded where they knew the merchant and liked him personally. In those days cash was a scarce article and credit was a big consideration. All this is changed. Now days buyers have money to pay for what they really need. They have better roads and rapid conveyance. They have daily mails, checking accounts and parcel post. They don't care who the editor is or who the merchant is or what he looks like just so he gives them what they want at a price they think is attractive.

The local dealer has a real problem before him in the future to grow and develop as he should and it will require constructive thought and courageous action to get the best results. The problem today is not how much business Smith across the street is taking away from Jones but how Smith and Jones together are to get and hold the great volume of business that rightly belongs to them and to keep it from going to some other enterprising town or to some mail order concern. And it is a problem that business men must work out for themselves.

Willie Willis

By ROBERT QUILLEN

(Copyright, 1925, Assoc. Eds., Inc.)

In the death of Dr. H. J. Waters, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star, Missouri and the Middle West have lost a great man and an able champion. No man perhaps has had a more thorough or a more intelligent grasp of the problems of the farm and of their relation to the welfare of the country than Dr. Waters. He was not only a man of learning and ability but he was a most lovable character and his passing will give genuine grief to many thousands who knew him personally and to many other thousands who felt that they knew him even though they had not seen him in the flesh.

Many Believe Senator Wheeler Is Persecuted

And This Fact Is Gaining For Montana Legislator Sympathy In Capital Some Hint At Investigation

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—Is Senator Burton K. Wheeler being persecuted?

A good many of his brother senators are going to make up their minds affirmatively unless the government makes out a stronger case against him at his coming trial here than it made out against him in Montana, on the charge of having acted as "fixer" at the Interior Department for Gordon Campbell, the oil man. At least that's the consensus of gossip around the capitol now.

Persecuting a senator, in other senators' eyes, is about the worst offense imaginable. Senators are something like royalty. Kings may quarrel between themselves, but let the populace rise up against any particular king and all the other kings are on his side.

Their feeling is that an institution of which they're a part is being attacked. What weakens or overthrows one king threatens the whole kingly system.

Plenty of senators disliked Senator Wheeler's investigation of the justice department. When he was indicted some of them may have hoped the government had adequate grounds for it.

But if it was a "frameup," then each senator's attitude is "The same thing may happen to me, when a party I don't belong to is in control, and I start something it wants to stop." So nearly all of them—if anybody tried to "frame" Senator Wheeler—resent it personally.

Should the Washington case against Senator Wheeler fall as flat as the Montana case fell, there is more than likely, then, to be a senatorial investigation to find out what the whole thing was about, how and why it happened, who began it and all that.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

The train came to a stop at a small town in Mississippi, and the kinky head of a gentleman of color protruded from the window in the Jim Crow car. Seated at his side could be seen a brown-skinned maiden.

"Does a cullud puhson by de name of Jim Brown live heah?" he asked of a station lounger.

"Righto, my good lad. I know hit wuz an 'owl, but wot the—wuz 'howling?'"—From Everybody's Magazine for November.

RECEIPTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

If you wish a fruit cocktail, what more appropriate than to serve it in a minature Jack-O'lantern? To make this, cut off the top of as many oranges as there are guests, remove the pulp, and cut a face on one side. If the features are cut clear through the skin, the holes will have to be plugged to keep the juice from running out, and for this you can use candied cherries, to give the effect of a light within. You could cut down a paper drinking cup and fit it inside the orange if the contents were very juicy, or you need n't cut the face all the way through. Insert a stem in the lid, a piece of soda straw, a strip of angelica or a green crape paper if you can not get the real ones.

For Witches' Bonnets bake a simple chocolate in a shallow pan and cut it into circles with a doughnut-cutter. Ice thinly with a dark chocolate icing. you could use "store cookies" if you don't want to bother with baking. When ready to serve put a cake on each plate, and in the center put a cone of chocolate ice-cream. For a band use colored candies or salted nuts. This is very good for a children's party as well as for "grown-ups."

With Croquettes could be made pointed and served on a round slice of toasted bread with a hand of cress or parsley. For "broomsticks" to serve with them cut carrots into strips and dress with melted butter. Or you might make a large vol-au-vent of sweetbreads or chicken and mushrooms for your main course at dinner, outlining a black cat on top of it with lines or dashes cut from the trutfles or fresh mushrooms. Serve with little pumpkins made of mashed potatoes, having stems of greenpepper.—From The Delineator for November.

SOCIETY

Place of Meeting Changed.

The meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church Friday afternoon has been changed from the home of Mrs. W. O. Garrett on East Fourth street to the ladies' parlor at the church. The hostesses will be Mrs. Anna Stauble, Mrs. H. A. Lemon, and Mrs. R. E. Heflin.

Invited to Meeting at Pickering.

All members of the Maryville chapter of the Order of Eastern Star are invited and urged to attend a meeting at Pickering at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at which time the lodge there will be constituted. Mrs. Alice Kundergraber of Kansas City, grand matron, and Henry C. Kirchner of St. Louis, grand patron, will be present.

Meet at McKee Home.

About twenty-four members from the three divisions of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Frank McKee on West Third street yesterday for an all-day meeting. The hostess is president of the second division. The day was devoted to making and tacking five comforts for the useful articles booth at the annual bazaar, to be held November 19, and other bazaar sewing. The useful articles booth is in charge of Mrs. D. N. Scott, Mrs. J. S. Ford, Mrs. J. T. Linville and Mrs. Anna Stauble. Dinner was served at noon in cafeteria style.

Social Meeting.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Seth Ray David Post, V. F. W., and their families enjoyed a social meeting in the post room last night. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock. A basket of food was prepared and delivered to a needy family. Members, who were unable to be present, are requested to send fruit for the barrel, to be shipped to a government hospital, to the home of Mrs. S. T. Gile, 402 W 3rd street. The remainder of the evening was spent in tacking covers for wheel chairs, seven being nearly completed. The next regular meeting will be held on November 10.

Coston-Auer Wedding.

A pretty wedding of this morning was that of Miss Dale Coston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vol Coston of Skidmore, and Joseph Auer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Auer of Conception, which was solemnized at 6 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. The bride's gown was of brown crepe satin with hat, gloves and slippers to match. Miss Gertrude Sturm, who attended the bride as maid of honor, wore a gown of pencil blue crepe with hat to match. Gregory Auer was his brother's best man. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Hotel Linville. Mr. and Mrs. Auer left tor a short wedding trip and after November 1 will be at home in Maryville.

Freshman and Junior Party.

The freshmen and juniors of the high school department of the State Teachers College will entertain the sophomore and seniors at a Hallowe'en party in the east gymnasium of the College tonight. The affair will be from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. A program contest was held to determine which group entertained the other.

Star Class Party.

The Star Class of the M. E. Church, South, entertained at a Hallowe'en party Monday evening in the Social Service rooms. The evening was spent in games and the prize for the best costume was awarded to Kenneth Evans. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Harl Holt. Refreshments of pumpkin pie sandwiches, apples and cider were served.

Delphian Society.

A program on "The Tempest" was given at the meeting of the Mary Graham Chapter, Delphian Society last night at the home of Mrs. F. S. King on South Buchanan street. Parts of the play were discussed by Mrs. Frank Cummins, Mrs. Sherman Montgomery, and Mrs. J. D. England. A paper, written by Mrs. R. J. Curfman, was read by Miss Grace Langan, and there was a general discussion of the last chapter. Little Elizabeth Embree, who was a guest at the meeting gave two readings. Mrs. Charles A. Haggard was an additional guest. The hostess served an oyster supper after the program. Others present were Miss Grace Langan, Mrs. Sherman Montgomery, Mrs. Frank Cummins, Mrs. J. D. England, Miss Bertha Beal, Miss Emma Hull and Mrs. B. R. Embree. Shakespeare and His Contemporaries will be the subject discussed at the meeting on November 10.

Hostess at Luncheon

Mrs. Jesse F. Robertson gave a 1 o'clock luncheon to members of the H. E. L. M. Club and a number of additional guests at the Country Club this afternoon. The guests were served from a long table decorated with red and white carnations and Halloween ideas were carried out in the place cards and favors. The luncheon was followed by dominoes and somerset, played at five tables. Assisting Mrs. Robertson in entertaining were Mrs. W. C. Ellison and Mrs. J. W. Herren. There were twenty guests.

Royal Neighbors Party.

About fifty persons attended the Halloween masquerade which the Royal Neighbors gave last night at Modern Woodman Hall. The first prize for the most appropriate Halloween costume went to Mrs. Laura Hickman and the second prize was won by Mrs. Ora Green. Refreshments of doughnuts, pumpkin pie and coffee were served. Various Halloween stunts and games were the entertaining features.

For 50th Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Godsey will entertain a group of relatives at a 6 o'clock dinner this evening at their home on West Fourth street in observance of the golden wedding anniversary of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Townsend. These guests are invited: Dr. and Mrs. Harry Dunshee and son, Robert Edward, of Stanberry, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adcock of St. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Onstott and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Adcock of Ravenwood, Townsend Godsey of St. Joseph, George T. Smith, and Robert and Edward Godsey.

Mrs. Godsey was at home informally this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Townsend. The rooms were decorated with cut flowers in shades of red and green, gifts to the guests of honor. Assisting in receiving and serving were Mrs. C. J. Eckert, Mrs. W. L. Rhodes, Mrs. Hal Catterson, Mrs. L. S. Yeo and Mrs. Frank Reavis.

A. A. U. W. Meeting.

The Maryville branch, American Association of University Women, held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. M. E. Ford on Grand avenue last night. The program consisted of reports of the state convention at Springfield by Mrs. Ford and Miss Mattie Dykes, delegates from the Maryville branch, and a reading by Miss Anna Crane of the high school faculty. The rest of the evening was spent socially and refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Thomas E. Terhune of New Albany, Ind., who is visiting her daughter, Miss Mary Terhune, was a guest at the meeting. The assisting hostesses were Miss Carrie Hopkins, Miss Anna M. Painter and Miss Mattie Dykes.

Says "Rookies" Are in Charge of Boat

"Trying to Learn How to Run Submarine," One S-51 Survivor Tells City of Rome Captain.

Boston, Oct. 28.—"Three rooky officers were in charge, student officers, trying to learn how to run a submarine."

That was what one of the three survivors of the submarine S-51 told Capt. John Diehl of the steamship City of Rome after they were rescued, according to the cpatain's story as told by himself this afternoon to a naval board of inquiry.

"What did they mean by crossing my bow without lights?" Captain Diehl said he asked the survivors.

"They are rookies," replied the man from the under-sea boat. Captain Diehl could not recall which one of the survivors replied to his question.

A MAGAZINE STORY.

The villain hissed thus in her ear,
"Fair maid you shall be mine"
And for the sequel of her fear,
We turn to page one forty-nine.

"Release me or I'll scream" she cried,
And for the window made a dive,
And if to find she reached it safe,
We turn to page one fifty-five.

With muttered curs the villain cried,
"Don't try on me such tricks,"
And as he chased her round the room,
We turn to page one sixty-six.

The hero lover rushes in,
With swift blows ten or eleven,
Upon the villain's nose and chin,
We turn to page one eighty-seven.

We think the story near the end,
And feeling some-what vexed,
Look at the bottom there it says,
Continued in our next.

For Dancing

These slippers are of white satin embroidered with rose motifs in shades of pink and rose. They suggest festivity, extreme youth and dancing feet. The embroidery, you will notice, extends down on the satin-covered heels.

Surprise Reception Is Given at Church

By Edgar O. Wells, pastor Prospect Hill Methodist Episcopal Church.

A neat surprise reception upon the residents of the parsonage, and Sister Nelson, who is to leave for Pendleton, Ore., was given this Wednesday, in which each party was told to be present at the reception of the other. A very fine program was carried out, which we have not space herein to give, and a token of remembrance was also given to each. We tried to respond to the many things which were said, but was so overcome by our emotions, that it was almost a complete failure. About sixty or more members and friends were present and a social time was much enjoyed at which a luncheon was served and relished by all.

A new game of drop the handkerchief was played, in which the honor guests received them. Where was it held? at the church, to be sure, there could not have been a better place selected. Many thanks, dear friends, such gatherings are among the high points in life.

The congregations as well as the attendance at Sunday school show a neat increase, and are constantly growing, and both people and minister are "of one heart and mind." Next Sunday will be Holy Communion Day, morning theme, "His Body, His Blood, received by Faith." The district superintendent, Dr. E. B. Thompson, will preach at the evening hour, and afterward, hold the first quarterly conference. We are expecting a fine attendance.

"Innocence" and "The Masked Dancer" Shown

Two Problem Plays Form Attraction At Empire The Rest of This Week.

A pertinent plea against conviction on circumstantial evidence is the new film production "Innocence," a C. B. C. production which is at the Empire Theater tonight and tomorrow.

In this gripping story a young wife is accused by her husband of being untrue to him—simply because circumstances are against her and apparently prove her having committed the actions with which he charges her. The whole fabric and foundation of their life together and of their individual happiness is threatened—and would be destroyed were it not that the wife, through a brilliant manipulation of a situation in which she finds herselves, proves how easily appearances may be against an innocent person.

"The Masked Dancer," starring Helene Chadwick, at the Empire Friday and Saturday, answers the question of the possibility of a man mistaking his wife for another woman and falling in love with her, thinking her to be someone else.

SCIENCE CLUB POPULAR ONE

FILMS INTERESTING

Worth-While Pictures Shown At Weekly Meetings Of Organization—Programs For Year Announced.

The Science Club of the Maryville High School each semester is an attraction for great numbers of students of the various classes and there is always the problem of cutting down on the number who expect to join. This attraction is due to the interesting and educational films which the organization shows weekly at a small fee for each member.

Ever since the Board of Education purchased the motion picture projector, the Science Club has been the most active in the interest of the use of the machine that practically it is now under the care of the club, and other organizations and classes, desiring to show a film apply through the Science Club.

The films that are shown at each weekly meeting are varied and worthwhile. The tendency is to create an interest in really worthwhile educational films and to give first-hand information to chemistry and physics students. The films that are shown are of great benefit, as much so as the student obtains from the book. It is a system used in many schools of this day to serve a part of educational obtainment and knowledge.

Mrs. Vern Manley has been the sponsor of the organization since its formation and is instructor in the Science Department of the high school. The year's program, arranged until January 29th., is as follows:

October 30—"Amid Alpine Snows;" "The Flying Bandit."

Nov. 6.—Water Power.

Nov. 13.—The Electritransmission Speech; Niagara The Glorious.

Nov. 20.—The Valve In the Head Motor.

Dec. 4.—From Forest to Fireside: Pole Pushers on Puget Sound.

Dec. 11.—The Story of Lenox China.

Dec. 18.—The Story of Comet Rice; China's Forbidden City.

Jan. 1.—Headlights.

Jan. 8.—From Mine to the Consumer.

Jan. 15.—The Golden Gift; Arizona's Grand Canyon.

Jan. 22.—Mexico and Its Oil. (a continuation).

Jan. 29.—Mexico and Its Oil.

The officers of the club are:

President—Cleo Yehle.

Vice President—Elsie Wright.

Secretary-Treasurer—Ora Petty.

The members of the club, totaling forty-seven are:

Veldron Anderson, D. Allison, Ermon Barrett, Harriet Miller, Floyd Bailey, Harold Braun, John Craig, Gertrude Curfman, Ralph Curfman, Herman Carstens, Wilson Dowden, Orville Bennett, Walter Dow, Everett Ditto, Charles Kissinger, James Hepburn, L. # Around Our Town

George S. Miller, county surveyor, who has been resurveying the Carter estate between Elmo and Clearmont, reports that he saw there what he believes to be the best corn in the county. It was grown by Chester Carter and Mr. Miller believes that it will make 100 bushels an acre. There are about eighty acres of it, according to the surveyor.

"Pa," said a newspaper man's son, "I know why editors call themselves 'we.'"

"Why?"

"So's the man that doesn't like the article will think there are too many for him to lick."

Bill Bliss, well known man-about-town, holds an unusual distinction. He is one of the few men in this or any other county who claims to be able to capture one of the genus Mephitis Mephitis—perhaps more generally known as the skunk—without finding a complete change of apparel necessary.

Mr. Bliss simply seizes the much-respected little animal by its caudal appendage. This, he explains, prevents the emission of the highly odorous perfume which makes its wearer distinctive in any company.

"But be sure to grab first—and don't miss," he cautions.

Gus Romasser, deputy sheriff, is one of the most ardent admirers of Mr. Bliss. "Why don't you tell the people how Mr. Bliss does it?" he asked this morning. "You don't have anything in the paper at all any more. Why, there's lots of folks that don't know how to catch a skunk and they ought to know. And think of the ladies. If one of 'em (he meant one of the skunks) gets into the chicken house, the Mrs. won't have to wait for her husband. Now she can go right out and grab the intruder."

And by the way, how many of you are calling the skunk a pole cat. You didn't know there was any difference? Well, neither did we until we consulted Mr. Webster and two or three encyclopedia.

The genuine pole cat, it appears, is a European animal of the genus Putorius Putorius or Putorius Foetidus. It was originally called poultry cat, because it preyed on barnyard fowls. It is dark brownish above and blackish below, with white markings on the head, and its fur is sold as fitch.

Everyone, of course, knows what the skunk looks like. If, not, you'd better learn. It is black with white markings, usually with a white frontal strip and two broad stripes of white on the sides of the back. It feeds principally on mice, frogs and insects but occasionally on birds and poultry. And if you buy its fur at the store, you pay for "Alaskan sable."

Many manufacturing concerns have the habit of sending out merchandise saying that if it is acceptable a check for such-and-such an amount is due. This is the way one St. Joseph business man handled a case of four ties which were sent with a balance-due of $1.50. He kept the ties, but charged the manufacturing concern for his trouble.

An excerpt from the letter he wrote the maker:

"I have been put to some trouble in opening the package and removing the debris, cleaning up the room, etc., for which I shall make a nominal charge of $2.50. I shall store the ties away for you and I shall make a reasonable charge of 25 cents per day beginning Oct. 19, 1925. The ties are yours, understand, and are stored away for you, when the above charges for the trouble you have caused me together with the storage as set out are paid you can send some one to my office and upon a written order from you, I will deliver the ties to him.

"We have in our city a large number of energetic and up-to-date merchants, so whatever in the line of ties and other things necessary, as I need them I buy them from our local merchants. You know they pay the taxes rent and salaries of their employes. It is things of that character that go to make up a city."

Too Much Efficiency

By E. J. Rath (© W. J. Watt and Co.)

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

JOHN W. BROOKE, widower and head of a large hardware concern, is leaving the city for two months. He makes arrangements for an efficiency engineer to take charge of his home during his absence. But he fails to inform his three grown children, Constance, Billy and Alice, about the new arrangement.

H. HEDGE, assigned to the job, takes charge of the exasperated Brooke household. He occupies the owners private quarters and turns the library into an office. The "children" have informed Hedge that today is pay-day, but Hedge thinks otherwise. He offers 50 per cent of the amount they have been getting to be paid each morning instead of a month in advance. Billy and his sisters have been talking it over in a private corner of the music-room.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Constance was canny as well as cautious. She knew the failings of the Brookes, even her own.

"We accept the half rate."

"I guess it'll have to be by the day," admitted Alice. "Because I need my little $1.66 tomorrow to go to a matinee."

Constance looked at her brother.

"Oh, any way you say," he grumbled.

"It's settled, then. We all get our checks tomorrow morning."

"It seems to me you're giving in on every blooming thing," complained Billy, with an ungrateful scowl at his sister.

Constance smiled wisely.

"Listen, my children," she said. "This person has cut our allowances in half. Very well. But he hasn't cut our charge accounts, has he? We can run up bills, can't we? We don't have to say anything about that, do we? For one, I resolve to spend three times as much as I ever did before!"

"And I!" cried Alice. "You're a wonder, Connie!"

Billy was grudging of enthusiasm. Being a man, the pastime of charging things did not compare with the sensation of having the money in his pocket.

"Now, not a word about charge accounts," cautioned Constance.

"Not a word," echoed Alice.

The efficiency man greeted the returning conferees with a friendly smile and nod. They ranged before him, Constance in the center.

"We accept the half rate," she said coldly, "not because it is fair or even decent, but because we cannot help ourselves. And"—she choked for an instant—"we have decided to take it by the day."

"Excellent," said Hedge. "Good business. Thank you, Miss Brooke."

"I do not care to be thanked, if you please."

"Very well. Withdrawn."

Constance shot him a fierce glance, but checked a retort. There was still an item of business.

"Our money was due today," she explained, "but we are not to be paid until tomorrow morning. I understand. There will then be two days due. Billy and myself will entitled to a check for $6.66 each, instead of $3.33, while Alice will get $3.33 instead of $1.66. Is that agreed?"

"Quite correct," nodded Hedge, as he made a memorandum.

Alice and Billy sighed softly and looked in admiration at their sister. Neither had thought of that. Connie had saved them a day's pay.

As the three Brookes retired once more from the scene, there was something like approval in the eyes of the efficiency man, as their glance followed the central figure in the group. He admired good business.

* * *

Matilda Araminta Jones was a person with an obsession. The obsession was Constance Brooke. Matilda came from New England, which signifies that the obcession was of the most virulent type. It extended not only to Constance, but to all things over which Constance exercised dominion. Therefore it included Demosthenes. And when Matilda, who was Constance's maid, saw Demosthenes held at arm's length by the scruff of his neck, she went forth to battle.

Demosthenes was a Pomeranian philosopher who enjoyed the distinction of being the personal property of the chatelaine of the Brooke mansion. But he was not in a philosophic mood when H. Hedge stepped on him in the library and thereby made the discovery that he was an inmate of the house. He was even less philosophic when he launched four pounds of palpitating dog flesh at the heels of economy and efficiency, in retaliation for having been used as a rug.

H. Hedges, being quick with his hands, laid hold of Demosthenes with little or no delay, and removed him from the vicinity of his heels. He shook him quite roughly, and was still shaking him when Matilda entered the room.

"Stop!" said Matilda tragically.

H. Hedge stopped the shaking process, but still held Demosthenes pendant and scruff.

"Put him down!" commanded Matilda.

"What is it?" asked the efficiency man, surveying the struggling philosopher.

"It?" repeated Matilda in an awful voice. "It! That is Miss Connie's dog!"

"You mean to say that this is really a dog?"

Matilda choked. In her soul she prayed that Demosthenes might not hear the insult.

"Put him down!" she commanded. "I think not," remarked H. Hedge calmly. "He wants to bite me. And, whether he is a dog or a rat, I do not care to be bitten. I think I shall dispose of him."

Matilda turned pale. Demosthenes was to be disposed of! Some horror was afoot. She fled from the library and sought her mistress upstairs.

"He is killing Demosthenes!" cried Matilda.

Constance waited for no more. She raced downstairs, two steps at a time, sure-footed as a mountain-goat yet apparently risking her neck at every stride. The efficiency man still had the small black creature at arm's length when she appeared on the scene.

"Drop him!" cried Constance.

H. Hedge turned and surveyed her with great gravity.

"If I drop him, he will bite me in the ankle," he said. "I object to being bitten in the ankle. I broke one once, and that is sufficient."

Constance dashed across the room and gathered Demosthenes in her arms. He was a very small bundle, but he snapped angrily at H. Hedge and snarled in a manner that would have terrified a stout-hearted mouse.

"Does that thing belong to you?" demanded H. Hedge.

"Thing! He is my dog!"

"What is his nome—Molecule?"

"His name is Demosthenes."

"Why so much name for a little dog? It's disproportionate—inappropriate."

The efficiency man devoted another moment of brief study to his late assailant.

"In fact," said Hedge, "why keep the dog at all? A dog has no place in domestic economy. It contributes nothing to wealth or comfort; it is a nonproducer. It is sometimes dangerous, usually an annoyance, and invariably an expense. What does it cost to feed this dog?"

Constance uttered an exclamation of contempt.

"Cost! Do you think I have nothing to do but inquire into the cost of keeping Demosthenes? What difference does it make anyhow? All I know is that he cost five hundred dollars when he was new."

"And how long have you had him?"

"A year, at least."

"We'll mark of twenty per cent for depreciation," said Hedge, after a swift mental calculation. "I doubt if he would even bring four hundred now."

"Sir!"

"No second-hand or even slightly used dog is worth as much as a new one. That's simply business. But in spite of depreciation there is, of course, no reduction in the cost of upkeep. Therefore, we are maintaining an entirely useless and steadily depreciating animal at a cost that repidly increases in proportion to actual value."

A second-hand dog! Constance was speechless. Unconsciously, she hugged Demosthenes closer.

"I do not think I am justified in consenting to an expenditure for such a wasteful purpose," added Hedge, eyeing the dog with complete disfavor.

"You are perfectly preposterous!" said Constance.

"But scientifically correct," he replied imperturably. "I think I shall have to ask you to dispose of the dog. I will endeaver to obtain the best price possible."

"Price! For my dog! Do you think I would sell him at any price?"

"I should certainly advise it. In fact, I should be quite willing to credit the proceeds to your personal account.

Constance glared at him.

"You are not possibly serious?"

"Quite. I admit that, in all probability, the cost per diem of this animal is not a large item. It is the principal to which I object. There are a thousand and one trival sources of expense in this household.

"I am checking them as I encounter them. Although none may be great in itself, the effect of each is to inculcate wasteful habits and destroy a sense of true economic values, while the total expense of all is a very considerable sum. I am here to do my duty by your father."

"Do you know that my father gave me this dog?" inquired Constance triumphantly.

The efficiency man did not seem abashed.

"Probably true, Miss Brooke. Nevertheless, if you persist in keeping this animal, I shall ask you to maintain it out of your allowance. I am not justified in permitting it to draw supplies from the general account."

Demosthenes, who had been eyeing the efficiency man with obvious disquiet, at this instant voiced a small growl.

GOOD DISPOSITIONS INVALUABLE

You can't watch your disposition too carefully. A crab and a grouch are rarely successful. If your liver and stomach are in an unhealthy condition you can not have a sunny disposition because they affect the brain as well as the entire system. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has been usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. M. E. Bloomfield and family left Tuesday for California for an extended stay. May success crown Marve's efforts in the Land of Poppies.

Mrs. Allie Farquhar returned home Sunday after a few days' visit with Mrs. John Ball.

It was the pleasure (?) of this informer to decorate a hog wagon Friday. Not a very pleasant day but pleasant in the thought of having a bunch of bully good Duroes from Perry Tinnell's very excellent herd. The big question with us is to take care of these porkers so that they will take care of us and keep the bill collector away from us.

Cost of Living for Two.

How much should be spent each month for food for two people? It has been determined by families of two, living in sections of county where the cost of food is high, that the food bill for a month need not exceed twenty-five dollars or thirty dollars if the housewife is skilful in marketing, economical and intelligent. This means the standard good dietary. For two, that will be a quart of whole milk and occasionally some extra cream, two vegetables besides potatoes, potatoes once a day, meat once, bacon or egg or cheese once, bread, cereals as needed, sweets, butter and other fats in reasonable amounts, and ice cream occasionally.—From the Delineator for November.

How Utilities Use New Capital

The money secured from the sale of securities is not used to pay operating expenses.

It is invested in permanent physical properties which will remain in service until worn out—in poles and wires which carry the current for homes and factories, for added plant equipment or for new power stations.

With the rates which are established by law, the money that is collected for service goes to pay for supplies, wages, taxes, insurance, depreciation and other operating expenses and the interest on savings invested in the permanent properties of the business.

Money for the upbuilding of new and additional permanent physical properties must come from investors who are putting new capital into the business.

To take care of growing needs, the constant building and expansion of properties are necessary. This is the reason the opportunity remains open to invest in The United Light & Railways Company Prior Preferred Shares.

MICHAELS-STERN CLOTHES

What's the reason you can't afford a new Overcoat?

It's alright for you to tell that to us—but you'd fly off the handle if we told you you couldn't afford a new Overcoat this Winter.

Only about 5% of the men who plead this cause are correct—the other 95% are shielding a threadbare garment with a threadbare alibi, when they should own the happiness that a new (Michaels-Stern) coat can bring—

Say—what's this life anyway?

If all the money that came into your income stayed in—business would be poor—trade would be stagnate—employment would be lacking.

SHORTAGE IN HOUSES MET

SMALL HOUSES SCARCE

Too High Rental Asked For Calibre of Property Available, Local Men Say.

The housing situation in Maryville is better now than it has been at any one time for the last several years. This is the opinion of real estate men of Maryville. About a year ago there was a dirth of available houses in Maryville and the need for more was great. Since that time, however, the supply has better than met the demand.

It is estimated that in the last twelve months from thirty-five to forty new houses have been built here. A year ago it was said that fifty new houses were needed in Maryville. Today real estate men claim that there are several houses vacant here.

The main difficulty with the unoccupied houses in Maryville, according to two real estate men, is that the rent asked is too high.

"There are plenty of people who are able to pay a high rent, but they want to get good houses for doing it," one man said. He continued with the fact that the rentable houses vacant now are those where the rent asked is too high.

There is a demand, though, for smaller houses. At present it is next to impossible to rent a small house in Maryville. The houses which are open are all large. Because of this at least two persons have started construction on new houses within the last three months.

A local real estate man said that when most of the houses were built here that they were built with the idea of renting one or more rooms to College students. The need now, and the demand, is for five or six-room houses.

It is believed by one dealer in houses that the present house-building boom will be followed by another, that of remodeling. He said that it will be a case of lower rent or improved houses, and that the owners would rather hold the rent up and remodel the houses.

Of the half-dozen or more houses now for rent in Maryville, not all are modern.

Rev. Prather Talks to Hi-Y Club Members

Baptist Church Minister Says To Remember God Is Wisdom—Lawrence Wray Heads Club.

"To remember God is wisdom and to forget God is folly," said the Rev. Guy L. Prather, this morning, at the weekly meeting of the Hi-Y Club of the Maryville High School.

"It is natural for a child to be free and happy, with no form of high responsibility, as a child is not capable of carrying responsibility," the speaker said. "One should go through life with all the abundance of happiness and with plenty of good pleasure with the right use of wisdom and knowledge."

The theme of his talk was based on the text: "Remember Thy Creator in the days of thy youth."

"A man can refuse to obey God's law, refuse to believe in Him, and become an infidel but the thought of God cannot be taken from him entirely. The world is filled with the things of God and the indifferent finds himself confronted by the things of God. A man cannot forget his Creator."

The speaker pointed out the need of unselfish leadership and worthy contributions to the world. He used for an example of these qualities the work of David Livingston in Africa. He said: "The call of the world and leadership is the obtainment of education to meet the challenge of life."

Lawrence Wray, vice-president of the Hi-Y Club, was formarly acknowledged the president of the organization, to succeed George Andrews, the former president, who leaves within the next week for California with his parents to make their future home.

A short talk was made by President Andrews, in which he reviewed the work of the club and asked for the continued co-operation of the members with the officers. He then turned the chair over to Lawrence Wray.

Strengthens Theory of Life on Planet

Discovery Is Made Of Temperature And Climate Conditions Similiar To Those Found On Earth.

By S. P. HOLLINGSWORTH
(United Press Correspondent.)

Washington, Oct. 28.—The theory that a form of life may exist on the planet Mars was strengthened today by the discovery of temperatures and climate conditions there similiar to those found on the earth.

Results of observations made at Lowell Observatory, Arizona, during the summer of 1924 when Mars reached its closest proximity to the earth, were announced at the Commerce Department in a report made by W. W. Coblentz, bureau of standards physicist.

In the equatorial region where "dark spots" indicating vegetation were observed a mild temperature around 70 degrees Fahrenheit was recorded on the instruments made especially for this test.

This fact disproves the theory held until recently that Mars never became warm enough to melt its snow and ice, precluding the possibility of life on the planet. It was believed the highest temperature on Mars could not be more than 0 degrees centigrade, until these observations were made, Coblentz stated.

TO LIFT SUB FROM OCEAN

TO BE BROUGHT TO SURFACE ABOUT MIDDLE OF NEXT MONTH.

TO YIELD GRIM STORY

Rough Weather Is Hampering Salvaging Work, According To Officer In Charge Of Sea Operations.

New London, Conn., Oct. 28.—(United Press)—The ill-fated submarine S-51, rammed in Long Island Sound by the Steamer City of Rome, will probably be brought to the surface about mid-November, and then be towed into the New York navy yard according to present plans.

Navy divers are now engaged in patching the great hole torn by the coastwise steamer in the submarine's side. Thereafter they will rid the interior of water by forcing in air and attach lines under the body onto huge floating pontoons. In this way, it will be possible to get the hull near the surface, hitch tow lines onto it and drag it to a point near shore. The ship then will be brought completely to the surface, and taken to New York.

Once it has been brought up and opened, the hull will yield the grim story of whether or not more men are buried within the compartments where flooding waters trapped them. Six bodies so far have been taken from the hull.

Lieut. Commander H. A. Flanagan of the submarine base stated today that rough weather is hampering the work but that it is hoped to complete the diving withing a couple of weeks.

SCHOOL NOTES.

One of the most enjoyable events of the school term was the match game of basketball on the high school court between the grade teams of Pioneer and Common Sense. Both teams played a good clean game. Pioneer had the long end of the score. The feature of the game was the goal throwing of Laurel Lee King, and Orville Underwood of the winning team. Fay Simmons registered all the points for Common Sense. Howard Edwards acted as referee. The game was played Wednesday afternoon and was hugely enjoyed by the spectators.

Richard Heflin was absent from classes the entire week on account of a bad case of tonsilitis.

Pickering played our team on the home court last Friday and won by a large margin. Our boys seemed to be unable to locate the basket. Pickering has a fast clean playing bunch of boys and those who have had a chance to compare them with other teams, pick them as winners in the coming tournament. They were accompanied over here by Principal Geise of the Pickering school.

Our conference season will close next Friday with a game with the Parnell team at that place.

Mrs. Ford was in Maryville last Friday on a matter affecting school activities.

A demonstration school will be held at Champaign Dec. 1 or 2. This school is so centrally located that it is the logical place for the teachers of the northeast part of the county to meet. Supt. Somerville will have charge of the work and will be assisted by Mr. Godby and some local talent.

Quarterly examinations Thursday and Friday of this week.

Teachers and pupils from both Excelsior and Champaign matched the ball game last Wednesday.

CHURCH NOTES.

We were glad to see you at Sunday School and church services Sunday. Come again, and bring friend Smiles along, it helps us.

The services were well attended both morning and evening. But this neighborhood should double its church attendance. Will you help to make this possible by attending both morning and evening services next Sunday? Our services are just what we make them; lets make them good.

The special duet sung by Prof. W. I. Lewis and daughter, Kathryn, Sunday morning, was a beautiful song and was well rendered. These good songs are a great help. Mrs. Estella Porter and Orville Kelley will favor us with a special number next Sunday morning.

The new heating plant has been installed, and is now doing service. Thanks to all those who made this possible. Your help was appreciated.

Miss Annie L. Forest, who made an extensive visit to our foreign fields in China, India and Japan last year, and who is a former missionary to one of these fields, will be with us this week. She will deliver an address both Wednesday and Thursday evenings. You will miss a treat if you fail to hear Miss Forest.

The first quarterly conference of this year will be held Thursday evening of this week.

The trustees announced that Wednesday of this week would be work day for the men of the church. The plan is to rebuild the parsonage barn and do some other work on the church and grounds. The ladies will serve lunch.

The ladies of the church held their regular meeting last Wednesday. The president, Mrs. B. K. Lewis, tendered her resignation, and Mrs. Artie Craven was elected to this office.

The program committee for Rally Day request that all the children be present next Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock for rehearsal. This program will be given Sunday evening, November 8.

The pastor's library was greatly increased recently by twenty-two volumns received as a special gift from Prof. and Mrs. W. I. Lewis. This was a splendid gift and was much appreciated.

Drainage District Supervisors Meet

Annual Gathering of Landowners In Andrew-Nodaway District Will Be Held Saturday.

The board of supervisors of the Andrew-Nodaway Drainage District met yesterday morning at Guilford and transacted routine business. The regular annual meeting of the landowners in the district will be held at Guilford at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and two new supervisors will be elected, one for a term of five years and the other for a term of four years.

The term of Charles Jackson, one of the present supervisors, is expiring and there is one other vacancy due to the disqualification some time ago of a supervisor who disposed of his property and thereby became ineligible to hold the office. Frank Saunders was appointed to fill this vacancy until the annual meeting.

The Andrew-Nodaway district affects about 10,000 acres of land bordering upon the Platte river.

BIRTH CONTROL BEING URGED

OVERPOPULATION OF WORLD SEEN BY SCIENTISTS.

ASK LEAGUE TO ACT

Is Urged To Encourage Control As Only Means To Prevent World War —Fear International Famine.

Geneva, Oct. 28.—(United Press)—Startling figures have just been submitted to the League of Nations of the world-wide danger of war from overpopulation.

At the present rate of increase in the world's population, another hundred years will see more people on the earth than the latter can support.

The League of Nations has therefore been petitioned by the International Neo-Malthusian and Birth Control Leagues to take up at once the question of the control of population as one of the most important steps for preventing war.

According to the statistics which have been distributed to all League delegations at Geneva, and which are furnished from the highest sources, the world's population has more than doubled since the beginning of the nineteenth century.

In 1800 the world's population was less than 850,000,000. Today it is 1,700,000,000,000. The best estimates of its present increase are from 12,000,000 to 20,000,000 a year.

Taking as an average an increase of one per cent a year, the world's population in 1970 will be 2,796,000,000; in 2021, 4,598,000,000 and in another hundred years 12,437,000,000.

According to the figures of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome the world's land area is 33,000,000,000 acres of which however only about 40 per cent or 13,000,000,000 acres are capable of food production.

To support one person on the frugal basis of an European peasant at least 2½ acres are necessary. The total number of people therefore that the world can support is 5,200,000,000.

At the present rate on increase in the world's population that figure will be reached in another hundred years.

In the past, it has been pointed out to the League, over-population was solved by war pestilence and famine. Fortunately—or unfortunately—modern medicine is conquering pestilence and better government is conquering famine.

The only solution therefore left for over-population is either war or birth control.

German's over-population, the Neo-Mauthusian's declare, was one of the principal causes of the last great war. All energetic high-spirited people demand elbow room.

New territory is similarly required for Japan's surplus. Her over-population plight is now declared to be more serious than was that of Germany in 1914.

In less than half a century Japan's population has more than doubled. Her land area is less than that of California and even much of that is mountainous and unfit for cultivation. She has a total of 56,000,000 people the vast bulk of whom are so closely packed together that in certain productive regions there are 2,688 people to the square mile.

This density of population is four times greater than that of Belgium which is the most thickly populated country in Europe.

Like the Germans, the Japanese face the necessity of emigration. But the United States, Canada and Australia have already closed the principal outlets for them.

In the meantime every European country, it is declared, with the possible exception of Holland, where birth control is legalized, is over-populated.

German's population is again increasing rapidly. Italy is steadily becoming over-populated. Her increase is about 440,000 a year.

In eastern nations such as India and China, with their enormous birth rates, the death rates are declared to be appalling, indicating a state of semi-starvation in the great masses of the people.

Asia's present population is estimated at 900,000,000. In the past the evil of over-population was offset by war, mis-government, pestilence and famine. With the great bulk of the Asiatic countries now under either European control or influence these evils are being decreased but without a corresponding decrease in the birth rate the problem of over population is increasing daily.

It is declared by the Neo-Malthusians that as the Asiatic countries pile up this great excess of people there will be an ever increasing, relentless thrust of the surplus Asiatics towards countries that are emptier, richer and with a higher standard of living such as America, Australia and Canada.

Already, it is pointed out the United States has taken steps to protect its interests by closing its territorities to unrestricted immigration. This action already conflicts with the interests of two other important nations, namely Italy and Japan, and as over-population increases this conflict of interest is bound to increase and with it the danger of war.

Against this danger, the Neo-Mathusians declare there is but one remedy and that is careful, scientific, legalized birth control.

PLANTS, SHRUBS

About Fall Planting

We are very often asked regarding the best time to set Nursery stock, and are therefore hereby advising ALL OUR PATRONS to do their planting in the SPRING. While Fall planting may do very well, if stock is dug late and properly set and mulched—and the winter favorable; yet it is much less trouble and labor for our patrons, and usually more satisfactory to them, when they plant in APRIL.

If you WANT your stock dug in the Fall, we will do anything we can to serve your best interests in this respect; but we CANNOT GIVE ANY GUARANTEE WHATEVER ON FALL PLANTED STOCK.

Very Respectfully,

How to Prevent Constipation.

Modern habits of living and eating are largely responsible for the great prevalence of constipation. Lack of vigorous outdoor exercise, insufficient drinking of water, eating of soft cooked foods, a concentrated meat diet, lack of cellulose or waste material in the diet and neglect of the bowel function are the chief causes. In most cases, therefore, it is a preventable condition. There are but few cases that can not be greatly benefitted by the proper diet and exercise. Warm or hot water, taken freely on an empty stomach some time before eating, is very helpful, especially if followed by a few moments of vigorous exercise. These exercises should involve activity of the abdominal muscles, such as trunk bending and twisting from a standing position, or leg raising from a supine position.—From the Delineator for November.

Trade Publication Has Items About Maryville

"Clearing House Service" Comments on Chamber of Commerce and Weekly Journal Story.

The October issue of "Clearing House Service," the monthly bulletin of the Wisconsin Association of Commercial Secretaries, carries as its second news item an account of the work done by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce in distributing automobile license plates during the last year. In another part of the bulletin, there is a comment on the illustrated story published in the Kansas City Weekly Journal concerning Maryville and Nodaway County.

This bulletin is distributed not only to all of the hundred commercial secretaries in Wisconsin but to as many more leading Chambers of Commerce in the United States, and is considered to be one of the best state organs in the country.

While in Wausau, Wis., for two years, B. A. Caldwell was editor of this bulletin, and developed it from a three-page issue to its present twelve pages.

George A. Pickens, present at this convention, reports that he has received many requests for information regarding Nodaway County.

Paving on West Fifth Temporarily Stopped

Freezing weather has put a temporary halt to the paving on West Fifth street, of which a little more than a block remains to be finished. A short stretch was laid yesterday. It was covered carefully and apparently has not been damaged by the cold.

Mayor W. O. Garrett announced today that the city hopes to open North Walnut street between Ninth street and the Wabash depot the last of this week or early in the next. This will eliminate the present detour to the north.

HELPFUL HINTS.

When sprinkling flat pieces, such as towels, pillow-slips, napkins, curtains, handkerchiefs, and so forth, for ironing, dip one article in five in clear water, squeezing, not wringing, as dry as possible. Lay flat two dry articles, then one wet one, then two dry, and so on, rolling tightly, when all are done. There will be no dry spots and every piece will be a good, even dampness. It is a pleasure to iron clothes sprinkled this way.

Make an inner covering for sofa pillows of oilcloth, and an outer cover of some attractive wash material. Such pillows can be left on the lawn or porch during a rain and will not be ruined.

Rugs that have become torn and frayed can be made neat again by turning back the edges with a wide strip of adhesive tape. This makes a flatter and neater edge then sewing.

Sew weights (such as are used in women's coats) in the corners of drapes that turn up. They are closely concealed and make the drapes hang straight.

When stamps lose their stickiness and no mucilage is available, use the white of an egg.

A most convenient method of holding a ball or spool of cotton while crocheting is to pin your handkerchief by the four corners fast to your skirt, and then slip your ball into the little pocket thus formed. The cotton will pull easily and keep clean, and there is no danger of its rolling away.

If you are going away for a week and wish your plants to be well watered, take a strip of soft white cloth one inch wide by two feet long and place one end of it in a large jar of water and bury the other end in the dirt around the plant.—From The Designer Magazine for November.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Grains finished unchanged to fractionally lower on the Board of Trade today.

Erratic wheat trade was manifest in rapid movements. The opening was lower. At mid-session Northwestern and eastern houses bought freely and early losses were wiped out. Thereafter numerous dips and rallies ensued. The market failed to recover from the final dip and values finished at slight recessions under the previous finish. Dissipated confidence increased pressure.

Corn was active. There was buying early on the unfavorable weather news and lighter receipts. Towards the end selling set in because of the weakness of wheat.

Oats were quiet. Trade was small and at lower levels.

Provisions advanced on good demands from shorts.

WHAT TO DO.

To prevent pie-crusts from breaking or sticking to the board, roll it out on a sheet of waxed paper. When ready to lace pin the pie-tin, slip your hand under the paper and turn the crust over once so that the paper will be between the folded dough. Place on half of the tin, grasp the paper and crust and fold over the other half on the tin. When the crust is in place, the paper will be on top and can be easily removed.

Placeleft-over rolls and biscuits in a paper sack and tie it up tightly. Sprinkle the bag with water and warm in the oven. The rolls will taste like fresh ones.

To test jelly or fruit butters, dip a silver tablespoon into the boiling juice, then pour cold water into the spoon. If the fruit on the back of the spoon sets, the jelly or butter is done.

Instead of grating a cocoanut (and incidentally your fingers) by hand, run it through the meat chopper, using a fine blade.

A teaspoon of marshmallow added to the ingredients keeps candy from hardening for several days.

Add an apple to vegetable soup and the flavor will be improved.

A couple of pinches of brown sugar put in soup that is too salty will overcome the salty taste and still not sweeten it.

When at camp or where an egg-beater is not handy, use a fruit jar for beating eggs. Rinse the jar with cold water, to prevent eggs sticking, break the eggs into the jar and shake.—From The Designer Magazine for November.

18 MEN TAKE TRIP TO CAPE

BEARCATS WITH TWO COACHES LEAVE THIS MORNING.

BACK FRIDAY NIGHT

Southeast Teachers Have Two Hard Games This Week, Meeting Springfield On Saturday.

The State Teachers College football team, eighteen strong, left at 10:45 o'clock this morning on the Wabash for Cape Girardeau, where the Teachers College team of that city will be met tomorrow afternoon. Coaches H. Frank Lawrence and Paul Jones accompanied the team.

A special car was chartered for the trip. The team will transferred at St. Louis. The return trip will start tomorrow night and the Bearcats will arrive in Maryville Friday night.

There is but one change in the probable starting line-up. Because of injuries sustained in the Omaha game last Friday, Harold "Bunk" Miller, right end, did not make the trip. Hamilton will likely play at the wing position in his place.

The probable line-up is: Berst, le; England, lt; Cox, lg; Graham, c; Stone, rg; Moentmann, rt; Hamilton, re; Search, q; Willoughby, rhb; Eads, lhb; Masters, fb.

Fouts, Westfall, Chick, Wilson, Joy, and Lewis were the substitutes to make the trip.

The Cape Girardeau team has a strenuous weekend before it. After the Maryville game it will leave immediately for Springfield, where the State Teachers College team there will be met on Saturday.

Since the Bearcats play Springfield here in two weeks, the Cape games this week will afford a comparison and possible forecast for the game here with the Southwest Teachers.

Officials for County Tourney Named Today

Ramey Hann and Ray Blomfield, Referees, and H. L. Raines, Timer, on November 7

The officials for the Nodaway County basketball tournament which will be held at the Maryville High School gymnasium on November 7 were named today.

Ramey Hann of Burlington Junction and Ray Blomfield of the State Teachers College will referee the games. Kenneth Livengood, a College student will be official scorer. H. L. Raines will be timer. Hubert Garrett and Alva M. Burch will be doorkeepers.

Brawn Once Won in Football; Now It's Subtle Psychology

Once upon a time the football eleven boasting the most beef and brawn won football games—now something more subtle, psychology, is the exciting factor. So says Charles E. Parker, school and army coach and world war hero, in an article, "Mental Tricks Which Win Big Games," in Liberty this week.

"The triple threat play, with which the late Percy Haughton lifted Harvard to the football heights, was a psychological weapon," Parker writes. "Before he introduced it, football teams possessed those ambidextrous individuals who, with equal skill, could kick, pass, or run the ball.

"But it was Haughton who conceived the idea of an attacking formation in which his triple threat man was so placed that he might do any one of those three things. Haughton, in effect, cluttered the minds of the opposing forces with so many possibilities that they were unprepared or only partially prepared to meet any one of them, and Harvard triumphs were the result.

"The shift plays which came into use years ago and have continued effective to the present time, depend more upon the psychological than upon the physical.

"The good old general public has been unaware of these and other applications of psychology to football. Gridiron coaches—not all, but many of them—have flatly denied psychology's place in their scheme of operations. Succeeding generations of players—that much remarked upon young men who would 'die for Old Rutgers,' et al.—have been too close to psychology's working to permit true perception. Chroniclers of the sport, when disposed to mention the science and the game in the same breath or in the same paragraph, have done so in a sketchy, uncertain manner, somewhat as if the least said about it the better."

Says Science Is Best Cure

"One of the happy things about Christian Science is that it explains how near God is simply by showing that God is Mind, the author of every good thought. Our bodies do not have to move an inch. But we do have to make a move in our thought. The move is from the wrong to the right point of view of existence, from the material to the spiritual basis of thought. One mentally emigrates from the Land of Bad, where the giants of Poverty, Fear, Hate, and Sickness seem to rule, to the Land of Good, where the only lawgiver is the all-loving and all-wise God.

"A Christian Science treatment includes denial of the claims of evil and affirmation of the facts of being as known to God. A lie when answered by truth becomes silent, whether the lie be a slander or a sickness. In Revelation John saw that the dragon, typifying all evil and sickness, was cast out, not by drugs, not by a surgeon's knife, but "by the word of their testimony." This is the method of Christian Science, the bearing of true testimony in thought and word, testifying aright of God and His man.

"Christian Science is applicable to every human need. Poverty and lack may be overcome the same as sickness. When confronted with the false arguments of limitation, if we would turn our thought to the God-appointed order of existence instead of looking into the bottomless pit of error,—the unfounded beliefs of evil,—we would find that Love has already provided fully for man's every need. This provision becomes evident in the proportion that Love reigns within us. Limitation denies wisdom and impugns love. Limitation is the essence of matter and evil. Evil argues limited supply, limited happiness, limited life, limited activity, limited understanding, limited capacity, limited everything. It is the firm of Evil and Company, Limited! This evil partnership has been adjudicated by Christian Science and found bankrupt. It has no assets, no place of business, no reliable business connections, and its dissolution is rapidly being accomplished.

"In the Sermon on the Mount Jesus counseled his followers, "Let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay." One meaning of the word communication is "reasoning." The command is thus seen to mean that our reasoning, or thinking, should be, "Yea, yea; Nay, nay." Such is the practice of Christian Science. The Christian Scientist agrees with, thinks "Yea, yea," with the harmonious, divine order, and so affirms what is true. He denies or thinks "Nay, nay," to the claims of evil, and so denies what is untrue. He clings to the true and harmonious conception and repudiates the discordant misconception of existence. Christian Science treatment applies to every need. It heals sickness, does away with sin, brings clear judgment in business, and a happier atmosphere in the home."

Ben Jones Horses Continue Winning

Go Foin and Idle Seth Lead Fields At Fairmount Yesterday and Monday.

Ben Jones, the Parnell race horse breeder, continued his monopoly of the spotlight at Fairmount Park, near St. Louis, yesterday, when, according to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, his Go Foin galloped to a thrilling victory in the feature fifth event on the afternoon's program. It was a six furlong sprint for 3-year-olds and up, with a purse offered by the East St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce.

For the first four weeks of the inaugural meeting at Fairmount Park, the Jones' stable of Missouri-bred horses stands third in winnings with $5,670.

On Monday, another Jones horse, Idle Seth, won the third race. According to newspaper accounts, he started slowly but came through with excellent pace, going away with a five-length lead.

Go Foin also showed well Monday, placing second in the feature race, "The Grant's Farm." He was reported to have been in tight quarters on the inside in the stretch and could not give his best.

Go Foin's jockey, Charley Gross, won praise for the way he handled his mount yesterday.

Another winner Monday had local interest. The Muscovite, who took the first race, is owned by Guy Gray, San Diego, Cal., a native of Maryville and a son of "Uncle Jimmy" Gray, in his day one of the leading breeders of Missouri, when Faustus was at the head of his establishment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bookman returned last night from a week's visit in Kansas City, Excelsior Springs and Walker, Mo.

SNOW BRINGS OUT HUNTERS

SUPPLY OF LICENSES IS EXHAUSTED, MORE ORDERED.

BUCK HUNTERS HAPPY

Several Report Success From Expeditions Yesterday—Plea Made for Quail.

A light fall of snow, followed by sunny skies and clear crisp cold, has caused a renewed rush for county hunting and fishing permits at the office of County Clerk Fred Smith. His supply exhausted, the county clerk this morning was compelled to order more by telegraph.

Already this year, 100 more licenses have been issued than during the whole of last year. The total so far is about 1,100 and County Clerk Smith's request this morning was for 100 more.

Six applications for permits were received by mail today and there were several in person.

Yesterday was an exceptionally good day for ducks, according to the reports of the hunters who ventured forth. Rabbits have been little molested so far, but a general descent upon them is expected to begin soon.

The season on quail will open November 10, but many farmers are pleading that they be spared because they devour chinch bugs and other plant pests and are of great benefit to the county.

Several farmers think so much of the services of the quail that they are providing food for them during the worst of the winter months. One of these who did so last year was Judge William Blackford of White Cloud Township. By scattering grain upon the icy coating which covered the ground for a considerable period, he saved two coveys from starving, only to discover one morning that practically all of them had been slaughtered by an inconsiderate hunter.

Many of the leading hunters here are understood to have agreed this year not to shoot quail, or at least not to kill wastefully.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crater of Ravenwood were Maryville visitors yesterday.

Debate Candidates Start Preparation

Group Of About Twenty Will Try Out At Local College—Subject Is Not Yet Agreed Upon.

Candidates for the State Teachers College debating team have started "warming up" for the season. Each Monday morning at 8 o'clock some twenty boys assemble and discuss and con the merits and demerits of various questions. From this group the teams will be chosen.

The season for debate does not officially open until after December 1, when the subject for debate between the five teachers colleges of the state will be chosen.

Each college submits two debatable propositions to the other four colleges, and a vote is taken on all to determine which subject will be used. These subjects must be submitted by November 15, and the choice is made on December 1.

J. R. Wallin, coach of the local college team, said today that the subjects which will be submitted from here have not yet been chosen.

An elimination contest will be held the last of next month to choose the two teams which will represent the College in the contests.

Last year Richard Baker and Burdette Yeo, both of Maryville, made up one team, while the other was composed of Melvin Rogers, Trenton, and Clarence Bush, Albany.

Two Hundred Bankers at Chillicothe Meet

Chillicothe, Oct. 28.—Two hundred bankers are attending the annual meeting of group No. 2 of the Missouri Bankers Association here today. The address of welcome was delivered by Karl A. Blanchard, president of the Chillicothe clearing house association. The meeting will close with a dance at the country club.
